LAHORE, May 21: His Majesty King Herald of Norway gave an audience to a noted mathematician of Pakistan Dr A.D Raza Chaudhry, the director general of the GCU's Abdus Salam School of Mathematical Sciences, during his recent visit to Oslo, said a press release issued her on Thursday.

He was invited by the Norwegian government and Norwegian Academy of Sciences and Letters to attend the ceremony of Abel Prize, the world's most prestigious award in mathematics.

He also held meetings with the Norwegian Academy president, the Norwegian Education Minister and the Abel Foundation chairman, Rector of Oslo University.

During his meetings, Dr. Chaudhry discussed the possible academic collaboration between Norwegian Academy, University of Oslo and GCU's Abdus Salam School of Mathematical Sciences.

He informed them about the progressive research and educational programme of Higher Education Commission of Pakistan.

Dr Chaudhry said in an interview that Norwegian authorities and the scientific community highly respected the Nobel laureate Dr. Abdus Salam and regarded him as an academic ambassador, a symbol and a great son of Pakistan. He said that Dr. Abdus Salam was seen as a world leader in mathematical sciences.
